A BARBARIC DUEL.

How Texan Desperados Settle Their Difficulties.

A correspondent of the World gives an account of one of the most ferocious duels ever fought. It occurred on the evening of July 4, in the Indian Territory, at Medicine Lodge, a point which is a great resort for hunters during the colder months.

The parties engaged in this desperate fight were Hugh Anderson, of Texas, and Arthur McLuskey, of Kansas, both desperados well known on the frontier for their recklessness of life. Anderson had killed a brother of McLuskey in a dance-house fracas, and the latter sought him out for the express purpose of taking vengeance upon him. A Texan guide named Richards acted as second for McLuskey, a huge Kentuckian of the name of Harding fulfilling a similar office for Anderson.

THE AGREEMENT.

By the terms agreed upon between Richards and Harding the antagonists were to fight with revolvers and bowie-knives—to be placed back to back at an interval of twenty paces—to wheel and fire at a given signal, and after the first interchange of shots to conduct the fight as each should deem it best to his advantage.

The spot selected for the encounter was in the open prairie. The grass had been closely cropped by the cattle, leaving the turf firm, yet elastic, and just the thing for rough-and-tumble business. The men left long after sunset in the presence of a crowd of hunters, trappers,

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Akron wants a Sunday liquor ordinance. Bellefontaine is to have a $25,000 hotel. The last Akron production is spirit photographs. The fruit crop will be rather slim in Morrow county. The wife of a Cincinnati lawyer is the handsomest woman at Pay-in-Day. Our friend T. P. Larimore, of Homer, has started on a trip west. Secretary Klippart has been at Mansfield arranging for the next State Fair. Two hundred and fifty houses were built in Akron last year. A live town. The prohibitionists will hold a mass Convention at Howard, on Saturday next, August 9th.

Persons fond of the horrible will be gratified by perusing the first page of this week's BANNER.

Mt. Vernon sports more phantoms and fine carriages than any town of its size in the State.

It is about time for somebody to discover a mad dog. The number of canines is a little too large.

Everybody will be delighted to hear that the elderberry crop will be exceedingly large this year.

Mrs. A. Connolly, formerly of Mt. Vernon, has our thanks for late copies of Kansas City papers.

Walnuts are going to be plenty this year. It will also, probably, be a good year for "butternuts."

L. S. Everett has sold the Akron Times establishment to R. N. Knight, for $7,000. Cheap enough.

One hundred and eighty-seven bales of wool were shipped from Newark during the week ending July 25th.

Pataksala Agricultural Society will hold its next annual fair on the 24th, 25th, and 26th of September.

Our grain dealers are not doing much in new wheat. Farmers are disposed to hold for an advance in price.

S. S. Bell, who lately absconded from Newark, is not connected either by blood or politics with Hon. Wm. Bell.

The prohibitionist Convention for this district, will meet in Mt. Vernon, on the second Tuesday of August.

The offices of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad are to be removed from Zanesville to Newark about the 1st of September.

Hon. A. J. Thurman has our thanks for a pamphlet copy of his eloquent oration delivered at Chillicothe on the 4th of July.

The name of Levi Frost has been placed on the prohibition county ticket, in place of Jacob Horn, who declined the honor.

A great many new dwelling houses are going up, and Mt. Vernon is spreading herself in every direction. There is plenty of room.

Warner Miller is preparing to put a splendid iron front on the store-room on Main street, occupied by Mr. R. W. Kerr. Good for him.

There is a story afloat that an inmate of the County Infirmary ate a quart of potato bugs, and felt better the next day than usual.

Mr. James Simmons, a well-known Mt. Vernon drayman, died of consumption on Saturday night, and was buried on Monday.

James Hutchinson is proud of his new building on Main street, and well he may be, for it will be an honor and an ornament to the city.

We learn from the Independent that the Wagner House at Fredericktown has been thoroughly renovated and improved. It certainly needed it.

It was Harry Stoyke and not Mr. McKay who was awarded the contract for doing the stone work for the new Fifth Ward School House.

Thomas George is putting up a handsome residence on a new street which will soon be opened, from his father's residence on Gambier Avenue to High street.

Our enterprising townsman, W. J. Osborne, is erecting a beautiful brick dwelling on East High street, on the site of the one recently destroyed by fire.

We hear a good deal of complaint against the Mayor for not enforcing the orders of the Board of Health in abating nuisances, &c., throughout the city.

The Court of Common Pleas for Richmond county will commence its session on Monday, August 15th. Two hundred and fifty-four cases are docketed for hearing.

When you come to the show don't carry any more money about your person than you will absolutely need, as pickpockets are unusually plenty this year. Take our advice.

Mr. James Rogers, for reasons satisfactory to himself, has concluded to make his new block of buildings, on Vine street, two stories high, instead of three, as first contemplated.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Van-Buskerk, who has so faithfully served the public as a clerk in the Auditor's Office for the past two years, is quite ill at Urbana, Ohio, where he is on a visit.

Friday last, August 1st, was the anniversary of Emancipation in the West India Islands. Our colored citizens had some sort of a festival in honor of the event, the particulars of which have not been reported to us.

"One who has been there" propounds the following conundrum: "Isn't it a disagreeable occurrence when a young man's suspenders give way while he dances a schottische with a young lady who never wants to sit down?"

For monstrosities, Morrow county beats the world. The latest one that has come to light, is a kitten that was born a few miles from Sparta, the hind being perfectly devoid of hair, and the hinder part and tail resembling a rat.

A horse, attached to a wagon, made three lively on the lower part of Main street, on Monday, by running away, completely capsizing the wagon, and attempting to haul it up street in that position, at a 240 gait, but the attempt was an ignominious failure.

The return game of base ball between the Clintons and Buckeyes, took place on the grounds of the latter, on Wednesday afternoon, and resulted in the defeat of the Clintons, by a score of 41 to 60. Outsiders say that unfair decisions, and partiality shown to the Buckeyes by the umpire, was the cause of the Clintons' defeat.

Grant Scandal at Brandon.

The quiet village of Brandon, in this county, has been excited to the highest degree during the past week, owing to a domestic scene, which well might result in a tragedy. The trouble was between two "loyal" men, who are standing delegates to the Republican County Conventions, and brothers-in-law at that. As usual, there was a woman in the case, the wife of one of the parties, who, it is claimed, has been on such terms of intimacy with her sister's husband, as to give her a character quite different from that of Cesar's wife. This intimacy has existed for a long time, with the knowledge on the part of the injured husband of the unfaithfulness of his wife; but for the sake of keeping "peace in the family," or rather to avoid giving undue publicity to the scandal, he has kept quiet about the matter. At length, pretending that he was going on business to the country, he rode out of town, hitched his horse in the woods, and returned privately through a corn-field to a spot where he could make observations. From this retreat he noticed his wife enter the barn, in the rear of the house, and in a very short time afterwards the brother-in-law followed. He then quietly made "an advance on the rear," and came to a position where he could see for himself some evidence of the infidelity of his wife and the treachery of his brother-in-law as to arouse all the devil that was in his nature. He seized a piece of a board and suddenly dashing into the barn proceeded to indict such corporal punishment on the despoiler, as his strong arms would permit. But this was a "game that would play flat," and a regular "rough and tumble fight" ensued, in which both gentlemen were considerably damaged. The injured husband gave his "loyal brother-in-law" four hours to leave the village, or suffer death. Preferring the former, he took Greeley's advice, and "went West." Divorce suits will now be in order.

The Great English Exhibition.

The immense equestrian and zoological institution recently brought out to the United States and known as "Howes' London Circus and Sanger's trained animal" and caravan, are making their first tour through this section of country and drawing innumerable crowds from every direction. It is claimed to be the "biggest show ever given under canvas," costing the largest amount of money in outfit and containing more novelty and rare equestrian talent than ever heretofore witnessed.

This combination is announced to perform in Mt. Vernon, on Monday, August 15th, 1878.

The caravan includes an entire herd of 5 performing elephants recently imported from the island of Ceylon, numerous dogs of lions, tigers, leopards, hyenas, and other denizens of the forest, trained to perform numerous feats by the native keepers having them in charge. There are besides other wild beasts in great variety which will appear in the street procession, said to be the most magnificent and extensive pageant of the kind ever got up. The circus corps comprises a diversity of foreign artists, French and English, including most of the available talent in the old country, besides others of distinguished reputation in this. Their names and performances will be found in the company's announcement in another column.

Shooting Affair.

An individual named Dehaven, living in the neighborhood of Mt. Liberty, came to Mt. Vernon on Tuesday, and while here indulged to freely in the intoxicating beverage, and became exceedingly boisterous. He then started up Main street with his person exposed in an indecent manner.

Marshal Hanna hearing of his actions, started in pursuit, and overhauled him on the Public Square. The Marshal arrested him, when he declined going and made threats of violence. A lively scuffle ensued in which Dehaven was roughly handled, in the midst of which, he drew a revolver and fired at Hanna, the ball passing through the coat of the latter. He was soon overpowered and taken before the Mayor, where he was severely reprimanded, and fined $50 for his sport.

Marriage Licenses.

Licenses to marry for the following parties were issued by Judge CRITCHFIELD, of the month of July, 1878:

Wm. J. Dudgeon and Martha Fowls; John W. Brook and Ella King; Columbus Hall and Mary V. Nibel; David Francis and Annie Elliott;

James Styers and Olive E. Jadden; Jeremiah Hall and Lucinda Wirick; Hiram H. Eagle and Anna C. Rowe; Daniel Trimmer and Ella Thatcher;

John S. Patton and Ella M. Kelsey; George M. Wood and Irvine Hall; E. V. Haight and Isabella M. Mozler;

George L. and Rebecca Ulick; J. Hammett and Mollie Hammond; George L. Benedict and Mary E. Poland;

Louis Gienlaub and Mary Dutenhaffer. Total—16.

Fire.

The alarm of fire on Saturday night was caused by the burning of a frame dwelling, in the upper part of the city, the residence of Robert Kimball. The several fire engines in town were on hand, but not soon enough to render any service. The origin of the fire is not known, but we are informed by good authority that the owner went home in an intoxicated condition, and created considerable disturbance in the neighborhood, and upon entering his own house, either by accident or design, upset a burning lamp upon a bed, which immediately caught fire and communicated to the building.

I. O. O. F.

Sycamore Valley Lodge, No. 553, located at Brandon, was instituted July 21, 1873 by G. M., George Bell and G. W. Kinkead and the following named brothers initiated in their respective offices: N. G., Geo. Phillips; V. G., John Jacobs; P. T., Henry Harris; R. S., H. D. Glaze; Treasurer, N. Poland. A donation of $50 by Quindaro, Parent Lodge, was very thankfully received by the child, in an appropriate manner.

Shawl Lost.

Lost, on Wednesday morning, August 6th, 1878, between the residences of H. B. Curtis, and Mr. Loveridge, North of town, a black and white plaid shawl. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving it at this office.

The condition of the State Treasury on the 31st of July was: Cash on hand, $111,591.82; Comptroller's drafts, $165,000; total, $276,591.82—which sum is to the credit of the different funds as follows: Revenue, $139,327.97; Asylum, $56,123.37; Sinking, $50,146.68; National Road, $1,218.10; Common School, $29,676.68.

Grant County Convention.

The friends of Grant and Delano met in Convention at the Court House on Monday, for the purpose of nominating a county ticket. The attendance was very small, about one-third of the townships in the county being unrepresented. All the office holders were there, as a matter of course; but the rank and file of the party, who are sick and tired of the profligacy and extravagance, the plunder and thievery of the party leaders, failed to put in an appearance. Dr. R. C. Kirk was chosen President, and B. S. Cassil and A. J. Tilton acted as Secretaries.

After the transaction of some preliminary business, the Convention proceeded to nominate a county ticket. A delegate announced the name of Col. W. C. Cooper as a candidate for Representative, when that gentleman arose and stated that under no circumstances would he accept the nomination, and even if elected he would not serve. A lull here took place in the proceedings, and it was finally agreed that the nomination for Representative should be deferred until after the other candidates were nominated.

J. W. Bradfield, of Union township, was nominated for Auditor, without opposition. M. J. Simons, of Fredericktown, was nominated for Treasurer, without opposition.

For the office of Commissioner, Simon Bonnett, of Harrison, Charles Miller, of Jefferson, Jacob Gaines, of College, and Samuel Pealer, of Pike, were announced. Mr. Bonnett made a little speech saying that he did not want the office, nor would he accept the nomination unless it was tendered to him unanimously. The vote was as follows:

First Ballot—Bonnett 10, Miller 18, Gaines 17, Pealer 6. No choice. Mr. Bonnett's name, at his own request, was withdrawn.

Second Ballot—Miller 19, Gaines 24, Pealer 9. No choice.

Third Ballot—Miller 15, Gaines 30, Pealer 9. No choice.

Mr. Gaines was declared to be the nominee of the Convention, and the nomination made unanimous.

P. G. Beardsley was nominated for Infirmary Director without opposition.

The question of nominating a candidate for Representative then came up, and no person appearing to be willing to offer himself up as a sacrifice for the "good of the cause," our quiet and peaceable fellow-town, Wm. McClelland, Esq., was nominated, just for the sake of filling up the ticket, but without the slightest hope of his election.

Col. Cooper was then called upon for a speech, when he promptly responded, and endeavored to show that he did not deserve the name of "Artful Dodger," which has been so generally applied to him. Then the Journal of the House must be an awful falsifier. He "went for" the prohibitionists in earnest, and labored to show that they were inconsistent, insincere and unreliable, and didn't properly appreciate the labors of the Republicans in their behalf. He called them hypocrites, "long noses," &c., &c., and declared that their only object in making separate nominations is to defeat the Republican party.

We had almost forgotten to state that a delegate offered some resolutions, eulogizing Grant, whose signature made the Steel Bill a law, and assuming General Morgan for accepting the extra pay given him by this very act which was passed by a Republican Congress and signed and approved by a Republican President. That is consistency with a vengeance.

After the appointment of a Central Committee, the little gathering of the faithful quietly dispersed.

PERSONAL.

Ida Greeley will write a story for the Graphic.

Don Amadeo, the ex-Queen Isabella and Prince Napoleon lately met at a railway station in Milan.

The report that Parson Brownlow had challenged Gen. Hill to fight a duel is not correct. There is no hope.

Henry Wilson thinks that Phil Sheridan as good a chance of being the next President of the United States as any body else.

General Sickles is said to be in poor health, his recent labors in Madrid amid so much political excitement having been most onerous.

Mary Handley, widely known just now as the female detective, realized $3,500 from her capture of her old friend Kate Stoddard.

The Independent, of Belmont county, says: Mr. Veming, of North Bellair, has in his possession a cat that has admitted into her family a half grown rat; it lives in the nest with three kittens and appears to be a greater favorite with the old cat than either of the kittens.

Twelve gravel roads are now under contract in Union county. Many of the contractors are hard at work, and by fall will be well under way with their roads.

A young eagle was found on the road between Mt. Gilead and Cardington one day last week.

Two stallions belonging to E. Bailey, of Cardington, were poisoned on Wednesday night of last week. They both recovered.

David McGowan, Sr., a resident of Jefferson county since 1827, died in Steubenville last Thursday, aged seventy-four years.

A dry goods clerk named John Elder, was run over by the cars at the depot in Lancaster, a few days ago, and instantly killed. His body was horribly mangled. He leaves a wife and four children.

Joseph Marquard, a resident of Virginia township, Coshocton county, and a Justice of the Peace, was killed last week by being run over by a train. He had been to town and drunk to much.

The Circleville Herald says: Isaac Bowen, on Thursday last, while digging a well, near his new residence in Wayne township, this county, discovered a part of a tree, thirty-six feet below the surface. The principal piece was large enough to have made a half dozen rails, but was in a decayed condition. A number of small limbs were also found at the same depth. These were remarkably well preserved.

The editor of the Ohio Farmer recently passed through the counties of Summit, Wayne, Medina, Ashland, Lorain and Cuyahoga, and gives the following as the result of his observations respecting the condition of the crops: "Wheat is about 30 per cent. above last year, oats 30 per cent. below, corn the same, grass the same. Apples 75 per cent. below, pears 25 per cent. below, cherries none. Gardens look well. The heavy rains of the past few days will have a good effect on the late oats and pastures."

The Guernsey Times says: Two miles South of Winchester lives, on the farm he entered, Benjamin Perry, who has numbered 107 years, with his eye undimmed, hearing good, his locks only iron grey, his limbs only cease their activity, his mind is quick for one so old, his memory very good, and he can attend to business yet, as he recently sold two three year old steers for the snug sum of $125.—Can any other county make such a record?

The ring thieves in Washington met with a disaster lately. They attempted to have Dana, of the New York Sun, taken before one of their packed courts in that District, but Judge Blatchford, of New York, refused. Now let Dana, go for that ring of scamps, and "hunt them down."

Extensive pine lands have been discovered in the northern part of Nebraska, which has heretofore been believed to be barren. With the gold fields recently discovered in Alaska, and large deposits of various minerals in other parts of the West, the resources of this country are gradually becoming better known, but undoubtedly untold treasures have yet to be discovered.

Senator Alcorn, one of the principal Mississippi thieves, says that he has not only not disgorge, but don't intend to. There is consistency for you.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

There is very little change to note in the wool market since our last report. Manufacturers are still purchasing freely, and find good assortments from which to make selections. The receipts of domestics fleece are large, and stocks are pressing upon the market more than at any previous time this season. As a rule, prices are without change, but in some instances the desire to sell has led dealers to make slight concessions. New Ohio is selling at 40¢50c per lb and Michigan at 40¢45c.

Pulled wool is selling in a moderate way about the same prices as last week. The demand is active.

California continues to sell as freely as at any time this season, and choice lots are very firm. Low grades are plenty, and buyers get them at low figures.

Foreign wool continues quiet. There have been some shipments to England, and could freight room to London be obtained at reasonable prices still more would be sent. Holders are unwilling at present to sell at the prices which rule here, and buyers will not purchase except at a concession, preferring to buy domestic wool. Receipts for the week have been 12,702 bales domestic.

Sales for the week have been 1,100,000 pounds foreign. Included in the former are the following sales of fleece: 5,000 lbs. Ohio at 50c; 4,000 lbs. do, fine, at 50c; 5,000 lbs. do, No. 1 and above, at 49c; 16,000 lbs. do, double extra, at 51c; 15,000 lbs. do, and Michigan at 46 to 49c; 100,000 lbs. Western on private terms; 6,000 lb. do, extra at 50c; 10,000 lbs. Pennsylvania extra at 50c; 8,000 lbs. coarse at 45c.

In unwashed wool the sales have been 13,000 lbs. at 30 to 35; 2,000 lbs. medium at 37 to 40c; 5,000 lbs. fine and do at 30 to 35; 6,000 lbs. do, Western at 30c; 3,000 lbs. coarse at 29c.—Commercial Bulletin.

That was a happy thought of the Department which guards against improper uses of the postal cards. The carriers are not to read what is written on the cards, unless it is scurrilous! It will be seen that this is a perfect security against the abuse of the new system. It was invented in Ireland.

Cleveland had a Sunday morning closing liquor stores. The saloon keepers say they do not object to closing up on Sunday, but they insist that all other businesses should be forced to close up also on that day. There is promise of a very pretty fight over the question.

DIPHTHERIA.—In the Summer of 1861, this disease prevailed through the Chenaw Valley in the State of New York, as a malignant and fatal epidemic; some of many families, and in some instances entire families, were swept away by this fatal destroyer. During this time, Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment came into use as a remedy, and very soon was recognized as an important help in the treatment; indeed, in some neighborhoods it was relied upon as the principal remedy. Its applications to all affections of the throat and lungs is attended with marked benefit. It seems to act as an alternative upon the mucous coats of the throat and air passages, forcing out the viscid and irritating mucus and restoring the mucous surfaces to healthy action.

Dark Stables.

There are too many miserably dark horse stables, when it is so well known that light exercises a most important and salutary influence on the whole animal as well as on the vegetable kingdom. We are too apt to think that any place will do for a stable that is sufficiently dry, though the only opening for the admission of light be the entering door. This is all wrong. The eye of the horse is an exceedingly sensitive organ, and always suffers from long continued darkness as when from partial sickness or disease he is kept a longer time than usual within doors, or in stables where the broad light of day is excluded.

Most diseases to which the animal is subject are more violent in dark stables than where a full illumination is admitted. Darkness is said to favor rest and sleep, and this is doubtless true, but it can be of no possible benefit to the animal during those long hours of wakeful inactivity, to which he is subjected in such a stable, unless it be to enable the jockey to take advantage of the effects. A horse brought from a dark stable into the glare of the sunlight, is confused and startled from the imperfect vision attending darkness, and by his high stepping and uncertain action, impresses the novice with an idea of his spirit and action.

Even though a horse be induced by darkness, it is not conducive to muscular strength; for muscles deprived of the stimulus of light, become flaccid and the apparent high condition induced by this means, is soon lost by active exertion. Men whose employments confine them to poorly lighted apartments, soon lose the color and energy of full health, and the same results follow similar treatment of animals. Light and thorough ventilation should be the governing points in the erection of stables for all domestic animals, and particularly for the horse.—Rural Press.

Wrinkles on Sheep.

By common consent it has been settled that Merino sheep should have some wrinkles or folds, which grow out of great loss of skin on the various parts of the body. Dr. Randall says that the Spaniards, French and German breeders have all approved of these folds in the skin, considering them as indications of a heavy fleece and the French have carried them over into the bodies of many of their sheep. Many of our American breeders fall into this bad fashion of the French; and, as in the case of wools, they carried a good thing so far, that from being a virtue, it became an "unnatural nuisance, both in appearance and reality."

I have seen at a State Fair of an agricultural society, a ram covered all over his body with wrinkles, along the outer edge of which grew hair, while between the folds tolerably fine wool grew—the whole filled with yolk, much of which was indicated, and looked like the hair of the human car. A good shepherd would require fully two hours to cut off this coat of mingled hair, wool and filth, that probably would not yield four pounds of wool.

This brute was adorned with the ribbon which indicated that he had been awarded the first premium. The owner sat with his heels and legs on a bench, stretching along the side of his booth, the very personification of complacency. I very much wished for a picture of the whole thing—ram, owner and the committee that awarded the premium.—Nothing could be more ludicrous, and to force the evil effects of bad fashions, when they carry even honest judges along their ruinous currents.—George Geddes in N. Y. Tribune.

Salt as a Manure.

We have applied salt to our garden at intervals of from six to eight years, for twenty-five years. We could not discover that it had any particular effect. We believe, however, that it had such an effect, besides destroying insects. We compare almost annually on the asparagus beds, as most persons do, and know that the plant greatly thrives upon it. In wheat fields it tends to stiffen the straw and acts as a protection against storms, which lay low so many fields. It also attracts moisture, and in times of drought acts favorably in this way. But that it is a manure in any sense, or that it will show the effect of the first crop is removed, we do not believe. It is a question for the observing farmer to decide whether or not its application will pay.

In England it has long been experimented with in every way, as a fertilizer, and the farmers there are as much in the dark about it today as they were at the beginning. The Lancet has, however, regarded as good authority there, says that there is no clear evidence even as to its mode of action, as the results are so varying that they are "conflicting and contradictory."

Quinsy in Swine.

A correspondent of the Iowa Homestead who says he has treated three cases of quinsy in swine in the last eighteen months, who has had the disease himself, says:—"I think when I see a hog suffering with the quinsy that I understand the pain, and where and how the treatment is what you want. This is what I did. I poured turpentine all over the throat and sides of the neck first, wet it well, then put a plaster of tar over it. I did the turpentine and in one hour the hog was cured. I treated thus over well. I would advise a change of food, when the animal gets out of the feed or loses his appetite." He thinks it is caused by sudden cold setting in the throat.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the Natural Cure (without medicine) of Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Inactivity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Pile, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price in a sealed envelope only 50 cents. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any post office, post-paid on receipt of 6 cents, or two post stamps.

Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 50 cents.
